Rhino Marking and Protection Systems

COVID-19

We know that during a crisis we must communicate clearly, with transparency, and often. We will provide updates to our customers and partners on regular basis so we can continue to work together to ensure our Safety and Marking Products are being manufactured and delivered.

The Energy and Communications Industries are considered Critical to our Country. As a supplier to these industries Rhino is defined as a Critical Manufacturer. As a Critical Manufacturer we will remain open for business until further notice.

Over the past two weeks we have made necessary changes to protect the health and well-being of our Team Members. We remain vigilant in using best health practices as defined by the CDC and rigorously continue to regularly sanitize our manufacturing facility and throughout our offices. We also moved some of our Administration Team Members offsite to work from their home, while we maintain a smaller set of employees who are on-site, we are operating at full capacity.

With so many of our customers supporting federal agencies, state and local governments, large businesses and include leading Utility and Communication Companies, it remains critical for us to provide our products during these uncertain times. This is a very dynamic situation; we will continue to do what is necessary to manufacture and ship our products.

If the health and well-being of our Team is not being compromised, we will continue operations. We will also continue to provide additional updates as necessary.

We not only value all of team members, we equally value our customers and partners! We are in this together and we will get through this together. Please stay healthy and stay positive!

Best Regards.
